Finally - a proper webcast studio in Central London!

Conveniently located at our headquarters in Holborn, Central London, our production studio has been custom designed and built from the ground up, specifically with webcasting in mind.

Whether you need a webcast for a simple but professional single camera shoot, or a fully managed live webcast with production, synchronised slides, live Q and A and polling, we can deliver it with the flexibility, pricing and professionalism you would expect from Groovy Gecko.

Nervous about going out LIVE? Not only do we have the experience to bring out the very best in non-media trained presenters, we also have extensive experience delivering live webcasts and a seamless end-user experience through innovative technology. However if you still feel nervous, we can also deliver the webcast, as-live or on-demand, taking the pressure off you to ensure that your delivery is perfect and on-brand.

The Groovy Gecko studio has a number of features and services to make it easy for you to record a great webcast at high quality, including:

- Soundproofed and ventilated 35m² bespoke webcast studio with infinity curve

- Large windowed Gallery with full IT support and monitoring infrastructure

- Cool lighting with Chromakey / Green Screen setup

- Full production facilities and Post-Production services including editing

- Dry hire option for production companies

- Ample redundant Internet connectivity

- Autocue option

- Streaming via global Content Distribution Network (CDN)

- Green Room and Production Office Space

- Wifi and client services - printing, catering etc.

Groovy Gecko staff will be on hand to welcome you and your guests, guide you through the entire process and offer assistance where required.
